

How much income can I have and still be eligible?

The amount of assistance you receive is based on your household's size and the amount of income after deductions.

You total income, before taxes or any other subtractions, is called gross income. SRS can allow additional deductions for things like housing costs, child support payments, child-care costs, or monthly medical expenses over $35 for elderly or disabled people. The amount left over after these deductions is called net income. If your household includes a person who is 60 or older or is disabled, only the net income limit must be met.

The amounts in the tables are good from Oct. 1, 2007 to Sept. 30, 2008.

People in household	Gross Monthly Income	Net Monthly Income	Maximum Monthly Amount
1	$1107	$ 851	$162
